TECHNICAL NOTES

Introduction

Retail trade refers to the resale (sale without transformation) of new and used goods mainly to the general public for personal or household consumption or utilization. Retail trade is one of the important sectors that contributes to Brunei Darussalam's economy, accounting for nearly 20 per cent of the number of enterprises; employing around 11 per cent of the workforce; and generating about 6 per cent of the total operating revenue of the private sector in 2019.

The Retail Sales Index (RSI) measures the movements of retail sales activities. It serves as a leading economic indicator of the retail trade performance as well as consumer spending behavior.

Scope and Coverage

The Retail Trade activities are classified in accordance with the Brunei Darussalam Standard Industrial Classification (BDSIC) 2011 under Division 47 – Retail Trade, Except of Motor Vehicles and Motorcycles, which is based on the United Nation's International Standard Industrial Classification (ISIC), Revision 4.

Group	Group Description
471	Retail sale of non-specialized stores
472	Retail sale of food and beverages in specialized stores
473	Retail sale of automotive fuel in specialized stores
474	Retail sale of information and communication equipment in specialized stores
475	Retail sale of other household equipment in specialized stores
476	Retail sale of cultural and recreational goods in specialized stores
477	Retail sale of other goods in specialized stores
478	Retail sale via stalls and markets
479	Retail trade not in stores, stalls or markets

Data Sources

RSI is compiled using data from the Quarterly Survey of Businesses (QSB) conducted by the Department of Economic Planning and Statistics (JPES) every quarter. A sample of 438 enterprises are covered in the QSB for retail trade activities.

The weight for each activity reflects its relative importance in the overall retail trade sector. The weights are computed based on the retail sales of each activity obtained from the Annual Census of Enterprises (ACE) for reference year 2019.

Index Compilation

The overall RSI is a weighted average of indices at the detailed activity level. The sales index at the activity level is derived by aggregating the sales value of enterprises belonging to the same activity and dividing it by the average quarterly sales for the same activity in the base year (2019). The overall RSI is then computed by summing all the weighted activities indices using the Laspeyres formula.

The indices and percentage changes will be published to one decimal place in the RSI reports. However, the computation of percentage changes is based on the unrounded index values.

The indices are reported both in value and volume terms. The indices in value terms measure the changes in sales value which may be due to changes in both price and quantity. The indices in volume terms measure the changes in volume of the retail trade activities. These are done by removing the price effect by adjusting the nominal value using price deflators of the reference quarter.

Rebasing of Index

The Retail Sales Index (RSI) has been rebased to the year 2019. The weights for the new RSI series were derived from the results of the Annual Census of Enterprises (ACE) 2019.

The RSI is rebased to reflect changes in the structure of the retail trade sector. The methodology, coverage and weights are reviewed and updated during the rebasing exercise. The rebasing of the RSI series from base year 2017 to 2019 is the first rebasing exercise since its compilation in 2020.

In comparison between the old and new weights for the retail trade activities, the most significant change in weights is that of Supermarket which increased from 14.2 per cent of total retail trade to 17.1 per cent, followed by Department Store which decreased from 28.5 per cent to 25.8 per cent (Figure 1).
